

Common Paper Simplifies API Management with Zuplo's Turnkey Solution

Common Paper used Zuplo's turnkey solution to launch a secure public API quickly, freeing their team to focus on core development. With features like authentication and API key management, they improved client onboarding and accelerated growth.

Challenges

- › Public API Need: Required to enhance client integration capabilities
- › Feature Complexity: Needed authentication, rate limiting, and documentation
- › Resource Demand: Building an API gateway required significant time and effort
- › Team Constraints: Small engineering team couldn't spare focus from core development

Zuplo Solution

- › Enabled secure and scalable API management
- › Freed engineers to focus on product development, not handling complex gateway tasks
- › Supported faster expansion and service improvements
- › Reliable infrastructure, extensive documentation, responsive support
- › Provided near-instantaneous deployment for quick iteration and faster shipping

Key Results

Reduced complexity

enabling faster product development

Accelerated deployment with near-instantaneous updates

Simplified API key management for seamless user integration

Improved scalability

and security to support business growth

About Common Paper

Common Paper is a contracting platform that streamlines the creation, negotiation, and management of contracts for businesses. By providing open-source standard agreements, they simplify the contracting process, enabling companies to close deals faster and with reduced risk.

The Journey To Zuplo

Common Paper needed an API gateway solution that could help them scale quickly while keeping their small team focused on delivering value to customers. Managing API functionalities in-house, like authentication and rate limiting, was slowing them down and pulling resources from their core mission.

Zuplo stood out as a turnkey solution that streamlined API management, simplified processes like API key generation, and provided the tools needed to deliver a seamless experience for their clients.

Zuplo's speed, reliability, and focus on developer productivity made it the perfect choice for Common Paper. With near-instantaneous deployment times, the team could iterate quickly and stay aligned with their agile goals.

“

Zuplo has been instrumental in allowing us to ship our public API quickly and efficiently, enabling our small team to focus on delivering value to our customers.

Ben Garvey

CTO, COMMON PAPER

